Burgess Family

Inauguration

Saturday December 3rd our church hosted an inauguration ceremony for our building. The local authorities were invited and the mayor of the village immediately adjacent to our building came as well. Local Catholic and Muslim representatives were invited, as well as the press and the surrounding neighbors. Pray that there would be good communication and good spirit for those that attended. Pray that we represented Jesus Christ well in our words and actions.

I have had so much work in preparing for the event: creating logos, designing communication tools and making sure that all is produced on time and in place for this weekend. Please pray as we continue our outreach.

This year Zach and I celebrated Thanksgiving with the Bible Study Group I am co-leading. It was held in Theresa Daily's home. Unfortunately Sandrine was not feeling well that night and could not attend. As ever, we are thankful to God for you—your kindness, prayers and support

My mom is in the hospital. My mother, Judy Burgess, was visiting a friend in Atlanta for Thanksgiving. She fell and broke her hip and elbow. She is currently recovering in the hospital in Atlanta. She will soon be transferred to a different care center for physical therapy. Please pray that she would recover well and fully.

See the Welcome Center bulletin board for the full missionary prayer letters.
