

A & K Central Asia

The next couple of weeks we are going to take some time off while one of our closest friends comes to visit! We are so excited to have her here for 10 days and have so many fun things planned. A will still do language during this time, but outside of that we are on vacation. We would appreciate prayers that all our travel plans go according to plan during this time.

Unfortunately, the group summer internship that we had mentioned previously is not going to happen this summer. We are sad it did not work out, however, we will still be plenty busy this summer. The same teammate we have been working on business projects with has been asked to “host” a conference for agricultural businesses run by believers throughout Central Asia. This will take place in our city and I have been asked to help organize and run the logistics for the event.

This past week has been really encouraging with the connections that we have made/seen. On Saturday two students came to our game day and got to hear the Good News for about an hour. Though they did not choose to believe right then and there, they seemed very open to hearing and were very engaged in the conversation. In addition to this, I had some time with a different student recently, Annie, whom I got to share with. She has agreed to meet with me over the Summer to study the word.

See the Welcome Center bulletin board for the full missionary prayer letters.
